Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as anticipated by Olivas et al. (U.S. Patent 6,507,187).

Art Unit: 2822

Olivas discloses a sensing device (Fig. 2) that contains a substrate (110), an electrically conducting film (150) on the substrate, where the film is a metal other than Cr or is metallic alloy other than Cr-alloy and the substrate is Ge or Si or a multilayer film which includes at least one metallic layer, wherein the substrate consists essentially of a substrate material which forms a bond with film and the film is deposited in a high vacuum environment, where the substrate is Si and the layer is copper (Cu) and an overlayer (180) on conducting film which is tantalum (Ta), where the substrate is 5nm thick or less and forms a metastable bond with the base pressure is 10^{-8} Torr.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 8 and 11-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Olivas.

Olivas discloses the claimed invention except for the thickness of the film, resistance and base pressure. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have a certain thickness of the film, resistance and base pressure, since it has been held that discovering an optimum value of a result effective variable involves only routine skill in the art.
